Insights

1. Data Management and BI is complex, expensive and requires expensive consulting and long implementation cycles.
2. There is an increasing need for non-IT experts to implement simple analytics, easy to build, easy to use solutions. The opportunities are in producing industry-level insights and benchmarks.
3. Unstructured data is growing rapidly and 80% of all new Data is Unstructured. There is a need for a combination of traditional analytics capability with SaaS-type delivery. Open source tools growing in importance often with cloud-type infrastructure, leveraging services-focused models.
4. Specifically, medium size organisations have similar need for analytics like large enterprises especially in a tight economy.
5. Reduce risk, cost, time to market and increase Business value.
